Art Unit: 3634

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1, 3-17, and 21-22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Thompson. Thompson discloses a door panel (12) comprising a bottom portion(16), a formation (22) extending therefrom (and integrally mounted in the final sealing apparatus position), a barrier portion (14) extending therefrom in a spaced apart relationship to the formation (28, 36 as seen in Figure 3), a seal member comprising a head portion (23), a flap portion (49) extending from the head portion and contacting a distal end of the barrier portion (14), the head portion (23) defining a boot-shaped opening having a heel portion (41), a toe portion (51) angularly displaced from the heel portion (41), a curved arch portion tapering from the heel portion (41) to the toe portion (51) (the curved arch portion is element 43 as seen in Figure 3), and the complementary shaped formation (28, 36) mounting the seal member.

The applicant's arguments have been considered but are not deemed persuasive. It appears that the applicant's arguments are more limiting than that of the claims. The applicant argues that by the amendments, the additional phraseology "a panel comprising an integral formation" carries patentable weight, which reads over the art of record. The Examiner disagrees since in the final sealing position, elements 22, 16/21, and 14/19 all form a integral connection and comprises a single element when attached together. It appears that the applicant is arguing a method of assembling the door panel and seal member and not the apparatus per se. Furthermore, in claim 21, the applicant argues that "the head portion and flap portion are configured for engagement with a door panel". The phraseology "configured for engagement with a door panel" carries little to no patentable weight since the applicant fails to positively recite the argued structure. Even so, if the elements were positively recited, claim 21 would still read on the art of record and more specifically, Thompson.

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.

Any inquiry concerning this communication should be directed to Jerry Redman at telephone number 703-308-2120.
